Sometimes parents who are permanently separating need help when they share children. Often it is as simple as hiring an objective, qualified adult to orchestrate a transfer from one parent to another. Or it could be ordered by a court to have visitations supervised. This can be at a public place, in the parent's home or at a licensed professional counselor's office. I have been doing this type of work regularly for more than three years and feel comfortable working with families to facilitate these visits.

The most important factor of these visits is that my priority is to make sure the children experience a safe, fun experience with their parent without any reference to the absent parent or other family members. Children should not be exposed to complaints about the absent parent or be a go between communicator for the parents. They should be allowed to have fun and connect with the parent.

Some families only require safe exchange of the children which entails 15 minutes of time between when the first parent leaves and the second parent arrives. This is then done in the reverse at a later time. These can cost $60 for the four times Marianne interacts. Hours of visitation are at a rate of $60 and need to be paid at the time of the visit. There will be no invoicing unless arranged in advance with Marianne. Visits will not exceed three hours unless arranged in advance with Marianne.
